Woodbury Minnesota Community Profile

Situated just east of St. Paul, the state's capital, Woodbury is one of Minnesota's fastest growing cities. With a population of approximately 70,000 (26,00 households), it is the state's 9th largest city and is projected to reach 88,000 people by 2040. It is in close proximity to major employment centers, as well as the St. Croix River Valley, providing a beautiful natural setting and year-round recreational opportunities.

Woodbury is known for its attractive residential neighborhoods, which are connected by more than 140 miles of multi-use trails. The city contains approximately 3,100 acres of parkland and eight small lakes, most with public parks and pathways. The park system consists of 55 parks, featuring a variety of playground equipment, athletic fields and courts, picnic areas and skating rinks.

Community scale facilities include the Tamarack Nature Preserve, Carver Lake Park, Ojibway Park, Eagle Valley Golf Course, HealthEast Sports Center and Central Park, an indoor park which features a play structure, meeting rooms, amphitheater and café and is connected to the Washington County Library, YMCA and a senior housing facility.

Woodbury is recognized as a well-educated, stable and professional community with a significant workforce in the medical and high-tech fields. According to the 2010 U.S. Census, 55 percent of residents age 25 or older are college graduates. The most recent American Community Survey indicated that the median household income is $96,099.

One of Woodbury's greatest assets is its growing diversity. Between 2000 and 2010, racial diversity in Woodbury increased from 10 percent to 25 percent, according to U.S. Census data. Woodbury's percentage of non-whites is now among the highest in the Twin Cities.
